

This week's task:

What techniques have these three writers/poets used to create the impression of a speeding train?